the JULY update

Ronali DeSilva

11.5.70 - 6.5.10

Our good friend and director of Smile Lanka (Live Your Love's first partnership) passed away last month of a sudden heart attack.

Ronali was the one who introduced us to Smile, and Live Your Love will be forever grateful for her life and the beautiful friendship we got to share with her!

Ronali will not only be incredibly missed at Smile by the children, widows and the staff, but our trips to Sri Lanka will never be the same without her and our MANY laughs shared! She was one of our very favorite things about Sri Lanka!

Fair Trade Certification

As we process the death of our good friend Ronali, we continue to move forward with Live Your Love Tea so that we can help the needy children and widows at Smile Lanka!

Our job right now consists of filing with the Fair Trade organization so that we are officially Fair Trade Certified. This is a lengthy process with lots of paperwork, but we are moving forward with anticipation!

New Facebook Business Page

Thank you to all 377 of you who have already joined our Facebook group page. We have come to the conclusion that as a business, it is more beneficial for the long term that we have an official Facebook business page instead of just a group page. We figured we'd do this now, when we only have to ask 377 of you to re-join rather than waiting until there is 3,777! Please take the 2 seconds to click on the Facebook link and join this new page by clicking the "like" button. We will soon delete the old one so join today!

We will be posting updates as to when and how you can pre-order Live Your Love Tea online!

We are awaiting a courier from Sri Lanka with a sample of Live Your Love Tea so that we can taste and approve! We are incredibly excited and hope to be having a tea party very soon! Stay posted...

*Thanks,
Live Your Love*
